

Allison Kendrick, Principal Senior Counsel, Litigation and Investigations group, The Boeing Company

In her role, Allison oversees the company's aviation products liability litigation for the Commercial Airplanes and Boeing Defense, Space & Security business units, as well as for Boeing's subsidiaries.

Allison also provides product-liability counseling across the enterprise and advises Boeing personnel who support civil, military, and criminal accident investigations.

Prior to joining Boeing, Allison was a partner at the law firm Perkins Coie, where she defended clients, including Boeing, in aviation accident litigation around the world.
