communication dynamics

Vocavio provides software that automatically and objectively assesses communication performance of teams working in high stress – high workload environments. This US patented speech analysis capability can be used alongside other biometric sensing technologies to provide training insights to crew, instructors and air transport operators. Scientifically validated in trials with military and commercial pilots, this applied AI technology provides fast, accurate and actionable insights into crew communication performance and team dynamics. Accelerate skill acquisition, drive cost efficiencies and training effectiveness during debriefing of an event. Accessible via cloud or enterprise license across simulators, synthetic training and embedded systems. www.vocavio.com Follow us on twitter @VocavioMetrics
